

Contents

List of Figures and Tables	vii
Foreword by Pieter Spierenburg	viii
Acknowledgments	xiii
Notes on the Contributors	xiv
 Introduction: A Global History of Execution and the Criminal Corpse Richard Ward	 1
OPEN This chapter is available open access under a CC BY license via palgraveconnect.com
1 Punishing the Dead: Execution and the Executed Body in Eighteenth-Century Ireland James Kelly	37
2 'For the Benefit of Example': Crime-Scene Executions in England, 1720–1830 Steve Poole	71
3 The Gibbet in the Landscape: Locating the Criminal Corpse in Mid-Eighteenth-Century England Zoe Dyndor	102
OPEN This chapter is available open access under a CC BY license via palgraveconnect.com
4 Never Equal before Death: Three Experiences of Dying as Seen Through Eighteenth-Century French Executions Pascal Bastien	126
5 The Ill-Treated Body: Punishing and Utilising the Early Modern Suicide Corpse Alexander Kästner and Evelyne Luef	147
6 Execution and its Aftermath in the Nineteenth-Century British Empire Clare Anderson	170

vi Contents

7	Strangled by the Chinese and Kept 'Alive' by the British: Two Infamous Executions and the Discourse of Chinese Legal Despotism Song-Chuan Chen	199
8	Dismembering and Remembering the Body: Execution and Post-Execution Display in Africa, c. 1870–2000 Stacey Hynd	220
9	Burying the Past? The Post-Execution History of Nazi War Criminals Caroline Sharples	249
	Bibliography	272
	Name Index	301
	Subject Index	305