

Contents

Labour Standards in International Economic Law: An Introduction . . .	1
Henner Gött
Part I Setting the Scene
International Economic and Social Dimensions: Divided or Connected? . . .	11
Peter-Tobias Stoll
The ILO's Mandate and Capacity: Creating, Proliferating and Supervising Labour Standards for a Globalized Economy	37
Claire La Hovary
Why the Shift from International to Transnational Law Is Important for Labour Standards	57
Anne Trebilcock
Part II Labour Regulation of Trade, Investment and Finance
The Implications of EC – Seal Products for the Protection of Core Labour Standards in WTO Law	69
Thomas Cottier
The WTO and Child Labour: Implications for the Debate on International Constitutionalism	93
Franziska Humbert
Labour Standards and Trade: Need We Choose Between ‘Human Rights’ and ‘Sustainable Development’?	113
Tonia Novitz
Civil Society Meetings in EU Free Trade Agreements: The Purposes Unravelling	135
Jan Orbie, Lore Van den Putte, and Deborah Martens

Comparative Conclusions on Arbitral Dispute Settlement in Trade-Labour Matters Under US FTAs	153
Patrick Abel
An Individual Labour Complaint Procedure for Workers, Trade Unions, Employers and NGOs in Future Free Trade Agreements	185
Henner Gött
Implications of CETA and TTIP on Social Standards	211
Reingard Zimmer
Mainstreaming Investment-Labour Linkage Through ‘Mega-Regional’ Trade Agreements	233
Henner Gött and Till Patrik Holterhus
Labour Standards and the World Bank. Analysing the Potential of Safeguard Policies for Protecting Workers	273
Franz Christian Ebert
Part III Business Conduct and Labour Standards
Soft Standards and Hard Consequences: Why Transnational Companies Commit to Respect International Labour and Social Standards, and How This Relates to Business and Regulation	307
Katja Gehne
The Promotion of Labour Standards Through International Framework Agreements	319
Rüdiger Krause
Transnational Labour Litigation: The Ups and Downs Under the Alien Tort Statute	341
Anja Seibert-Fohr
Promoting Labour Standards in Global Supply Chains Through Consumers’ Choice: Is Social Labelling Effective?	355
Nazli Aghazadeh
Part IV Labour Standards in International Economic Law: A Proposal for Practice
A Model Labour Chapter for Future EU Trade Agreements	381
Peter-Tobias Stoll, Henner Gött, and Patrick Abel	