

Contents

Part I Beyond Local Jurisdictions: Science in a Global Web of Relations

1 Introduction .....	3
Alyson J. O’Daniel and Krista E. Latham
2 All That Remains .....	13
Adriana Paramo
3 Capitalism and Crisis in Central America .....	25
Dawn Paley
4 Naming State Crimes, Naming the Dead: Immigration Policy and “The New Disappeared” in the United States and Mexico .....	39
Christine Kovic
5 Loss, Uncertainty, and Action: Ethnographic Encounters with Families of the Missing in the Central America-Mexico-United States Corridor .....	53
Wendy A. Vogt
6 The Geography of Migrant Death: Implications for Policy and Forensic Science .....	67
Gabriella Soto and Daniel E. Martínez
7 Follow the Power Lines Until You Hit a Road: Contextualizing Humanitarian Forensic Science in South Texas .....	83
Alyson J. O’Daniel

Part II Producing and Situating Forensic Science Knowledge

8 Digging, Dollars, and Drama: The Economics of Forensic Archeology and Migrant Exhumation .....	99
Krista E. Latham and Ryan Strand

9 Expanding the Role of Forensic Anthropology in a Humanitarian Crisis: An Example from the USA-Mexico Border.....	115
Angela Soler and Jared S. Beatrice
10 Identifying Difference: Forensic Methods and the Uneven Playing Field of Repatriation.....	129
Eric J. Bartelink
11 Bodies in Limbo: Issues in Identification and Repatriation of Migrant Remains in South Texas .....	143
Timothy P. Gocha, M. Katherine Spradley, and Ryan Strand
12 Dialog Across States and Agencies: Juggling Ethical Concerns of Forensic Anthropologists North of the US-Mexico Border.....	157
Cate E. Bird and Justin Maiers
13 Charting Future Directions.....	169
Krista E. Latham and Alyson J. O’Daniel
Index.....	173