

Contents

List of figures and tables	vii
List of abbreviations	ix
Acknowledgements	xi
1 Introduction: understanding offender rehabilitation	1
2 Theoretical framework: activity theory and innovation in the public sector	13
3 Empirical evidence: a detailed case study of a successful alternative to imprisonment	29
4 Moving the state of the art forward: suggestions on co-created alternatives to imprisonment as a means to rehabilitate offenders in the community	43
5 Final remarks	63
Index	67