Contents

Foreword by Richard Falk		xi
Acknowledgments
Table of Cases
Tal	Table of Treaties and Legislation
Table of Other Authorities		xli
1	Introduction: In from the Margins	1
	1.1 The Problem, the Stakes, and the Purpose of This Book	1
	1.2 The Approach and Method	7
	1.3 The Structure of the Book	8
PAI	RT I THE CONCEPT
2	Advancing a Legal Definition of the Right	15
	2.1 Introduction	15
	2.2 Contemporary Term Usage	18
	2.3 Clarifying the Conceptual Relationships	20
	2.4 Cognate Terms: Relation and Differentiation for
	Legal Definition	27
	2.5 Distinct from Antecedent Terms	34
	2.6 Distinct from Corroborative Concepts	35
	2.7 Identifying the 'Common Core'	38
	2.8 Conclusion: A Consolidated
	Contemporary Working Definition	39
3	Clarifying the Nature and Legal Function of the Right	41
	3.1 Introduction	41
	3.2 Nature of the Right	43

viii Contents

	3.3 Type of Right	51
	3.4 Function of the Right	65
	3.5 Conclusion: A Potentially Enforceable Human Right
	and Lex Specialis Rule of Exception	74
4	Identifying the Elements and Legal Content of the Right	76
	4.1 Introduction	76
	4.2 Primary Triggers or Conditions for Activation:
	The 'Right to Resist What?'	77
	4.3 Secondary Triggers or Conditions for Activation:
	The 'Right to Resist When?'	86
	4.4 Personal Scope, the Rights-Holders: 'Who May Resist?'	88
	4.5 Personal Scope, the Duty-Bearers: 'Who Has a
	Corresponding Duty?'	90
	4.6 Object and Purpose: The 'Right to Resist Why?'	93
	4.7 Material Scope of Application: The 'Right to Resist How?'	105
	4.8 Conclusion: An Analytical Framework to Identify and Compare Elements and Content	110
PAR	T II THE LAW
5	Domestic Provision in Constitutional Law	115
	5.1 Introduction	115
	5.2 Provision in 'Ancient Constitutions' or Equivalent Law
	3.2 I lovision in Thiefent Constitutions of Equivalent Baw	117
	5.3 Middle Ages 'Constitutions' or Public Law Equivalents,	117
	· -	117
	5.3 Middle Ages 'Constitutions' or Public Law Equivalents,	·
	5.3 Middle Ages 'Constitutions' or Public Law Equivalents, Including Customary Law	·
	5.3 Middle Ages 'Constitutions' or Public Law Equivalents, Including Customary Law5.4 Modern Revolutionary Republican and Anti-colonial	122
	 5.3 Middle Ages 'Constitutions' or Public Law Equivalents, Including Customary Law 5.4 Modern Revolutionary Republican and Anti-colonial Foundational Declarations and Constitutions 	122
6	 5.3 Middle Ages 'Constitutions' or Public Law Equivalents, Including Customary Law 5.4 Modern Revolutionary Republican and Anti-colonial Foundational Declarations and Constitutions 5.5 Contemporary Constitutional Provisions 5.6 Conclusion 	122 129 141 164
6	 5.3 Middle Ages 'Constitutions' or Public Law Equivalents, Including Customary Law 5.4 Modern Revolutionary Republican and Anti-colonial Foundational Declarations and Constitutions 5.5 Contemporary Constitutional Provisions 5.6 Conclusion Recognition in General or Customary International Law 	122 129 141 164
6	 5.3 Middle Ages 'Constitutions' or Public Law Equivalents, Including Customary Law 5.4 Modern Revolutionary Republican and Anti-colonial Foundational Declarations and Constitutions 5.5 Contemporary Constitutional Provisions 5.6 Conclusion Recognition in General or Customary International Law 6.1 Introduction 	122 129 141 164
6	 5.3 Middle Ages 'Constitutions' or Public Law Equivalents, Including Customary Law 5.4 Modern Revolutionary Republican and Anti-colonial Foundational Declarations and Constitutions 5.5 Contemporary Constitutional Provisions 5.6 Conclusion Recognition in General or Customary International Law 6.1 Introduction 6.2 Clarifying Recognition in the Absence of 	122 129 141 164 167
6	 5.3 Middle Ages 'Constitutions' or Public Law Equivalents, Including Customary Law 5.4 Modern Revolutionary Republican and Anti-colonial Foundational Declarations and Constitutions 5.5 Contemporary Constitutional Provisions 5.6 Conclusion Recognition in General or Customary International Law 6.1 Introduction 6.2 Clarifying Recognition in the Absence of Express Provision 	122 129 141 164
6	 5.3 Middle Ages 'Constitutions' or Public Law Equivalents, Including Customary Law 5.4 Modern Revolutionary Republican and Anti-colonial Foundational Declarations and Constitutions 5.5 Contemporary Constitutional Provisions 5.6 Conclusion Recognition in General or Customary International Law 6.1 Introduction 6.2 Clarifying Recognition in the Absence of Express Provision 6.3 Limited Implied Recognition: UN General Assembly 	122 129 141 164 167 167
6	 5.3 Middle Ages 'Constitutions' or Public Law Equivalents, Including Customary Law 5.4 Modern Revolutionary Republican and Anti-colonial Foundational Declarations and Constitutions 5.5 Contemporary Constitutional Provisions 5.6 Conclusion Recognition in General or Customary International Law 6.1 Introduction 6.2 Clarifying Recognition in the Absence of Express Provision 6.3 Limited Implied Recognition: UN General Assembly Resolution 2625 	122 129 141 164 167
6	 5.3 Middle Ages 'Constitutions' or Public Law Equivalents, Including Customary Law 5.4 Modern Revolutionary Republican and Anti-colonial Foundational Declarations and Constitutions 5.5 Contemporary Constitutional Provisions 5.6 Conclusion Recognition in General or Customary International Law 6.1 Introduction 6.2 Clarifying Recognition in the Absence of Express Provision 6.3 Limited Implied Recognition: UN General Assembly Resolution 2625 6.4 Broader Implied Recognition: The Universal Declaration of 	122 129 141 164 167 169
6	 5.3 Middle Ages 'Constitutions' or Public Law Equivalents, Including Customary Law 5.4 Modern Revolutionary Republican and Anti-colonial Foundational Declarations and Constitutions 5.5 Contemporary Constitutional Provisions 5.6 Conclusion Recognition in General or Customary International Law 6.1 Introduction 6.2 Clarifying Recognition in the Absence of Express Provision 6.3 Limited Implied Recognition: UN General Assembly Resolution 2625 	122 129 141 164 167 167

Contents ix

	6.6 Corroborative Sources Indicative of
	Customary Recognition	215
	6.7 Conclusion	227
7	Provision in Treaty Law and Other
,	International Codification	230
	7.1 Introduction	230
	7.2 Submersion in the Universal Human Rights System	232
	7.3 Fragmentation in the Regional Human Rights Systems	249
	7.4 'Soft Law' Codification: Draft Article 7 of the
	Draft UN Declaration on the Right to Peace	271
	7.5 Conclusion	281
8	Conclusions and an Agenda for Reconsideration	283
	8.1 The Case for Reinstatement and Reconsideration	283
	8.2 The Human Right to Resist Reconsidered as a Contemporary
	Legal Concept	283
	8.3 Reconsidering the Human Right to Resist in Contemporary
	Positive Law	287
	8.4 An Agenda for Further Reconsideration by Scholars,
	Practitioners, and Human Rights Advocates Generally	292
Bibl	iography	295
Inde	Index
		317	